A love affair on ice

GRAEME MURPHY, artistic director and chief choreographer of the Sydney Dance Company and friend of Torvill and Dean, choreographed the couple's latest ice spectacular, to be screened on the Seven Network at 8.30 on Saturday, May 2.

The two-hour special, titled Fire And Ice, was produced on a specially built ice floor in the Boblingen Sports Complex, near Stuttgart, Germany.

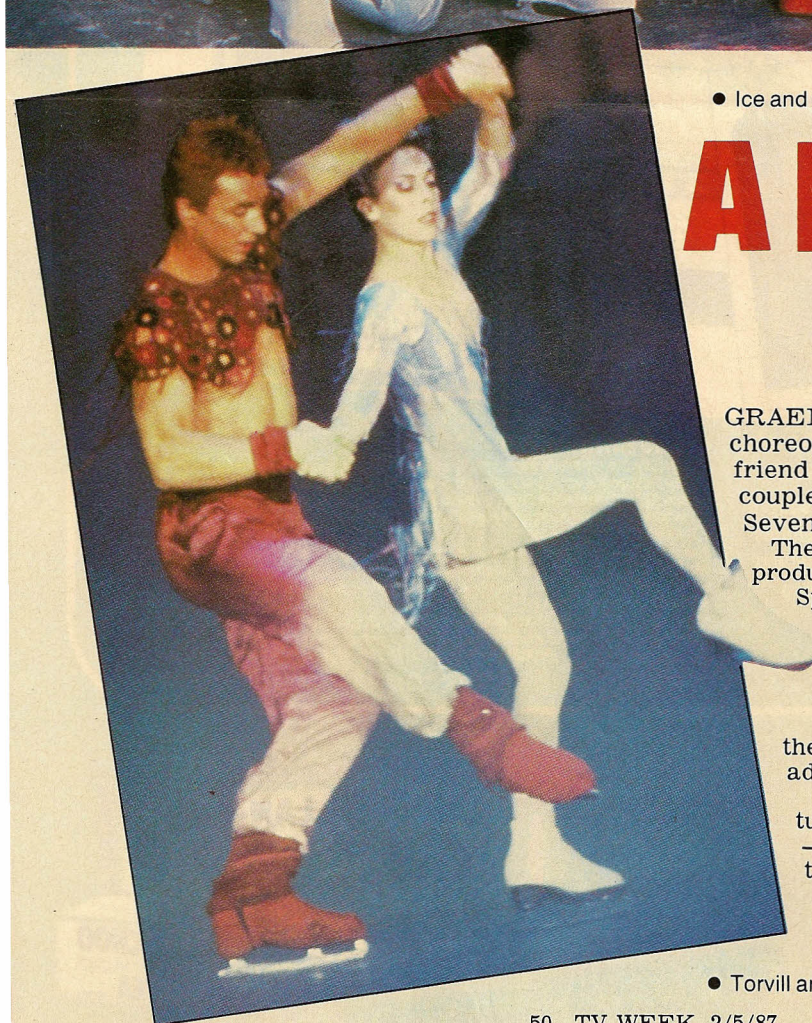

Fire And Ice is a love story about two people from separate worlds, whose love involves war between those worlds and their destruction.

The production claims to be the first to mix a company of ice dancers with a company of theatrical dancers, who dance on the ice in specially adapted shoes.

Michael Seymour, one of Britain's leading feature film designers — whose credits include Alien — created one of the biggest sets ever made for television.

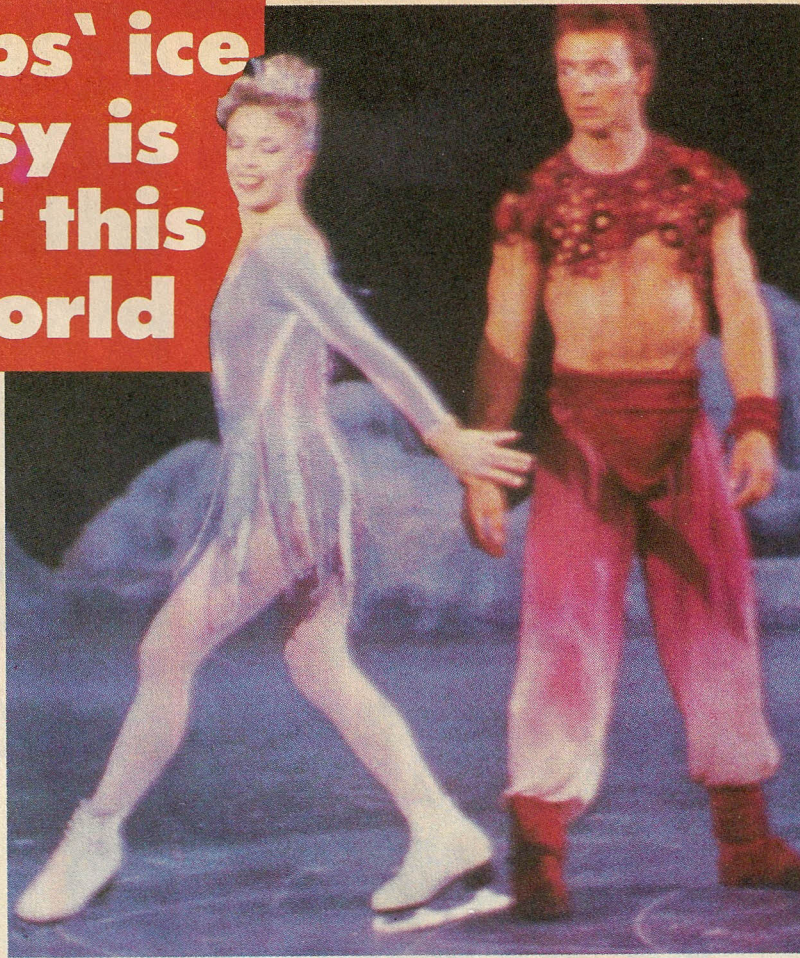

Jayne Torvill and Christopher Dean dance to original music composed and conducted by Carl Davis with the London Philharmonic Orchestra.

Champs' ice fantasy is out of this world

World ice skating champions Jane Torvill and Christopher Dean in scenes from the spectacular, Fire & Ice.

The sight is barely believable — Christopher Dean staggering across the ice, arms and legs going in all directions, then crashing down like an ungainly first-timer.

But in Channel Seven's spectacular Fire & Ice, at 8.30pm on Tuesday, the male half of the world-beating dance duo, Torvill and Dean, struggles hopelessly as he tries to coordinate his blades — a sight for many a defeated beginner. Of course, he is acting.

In this one-hour special, Dean is the hero from the land of fire — where people do not skate — who falls in love with Jayne Torvill as the heroine from the land of ice — where they get around on blades all the time.

The show is a dazzling combination of the couple's breath-taking dance routines and costuming that is right out of this world.

Thirty different creations from designer Stephen Adnitt are featured in the fantasy.

Staged in a vast sports arena in Stuttgart, West Germany, the special was a tremendous task in the making, says Nick Elliott, London Weekend Television's controller of drama and arts.

"We had to put 500 lights into the ceiling and, for days, there was a convoy of trucks going backwards and forwards," he said.

"After all that, we only had seven days' shooting. Yet everyone was so enthusiastic that it worked. When Jayne and Chris finished their main pas de deux, the crew burst into applause."

Cool Kate leads into new music series

At barely 20, Kate Ceberano sings jazz with enviable cool sophistication.

The exotic beauty normally fronts the Melbourne funk band, I'm Talking, but on SBS this Wednesday at 7.30pm, is caught moonlighting with her other musical interest — the Kate Ceberano Septet.

This outfit has been the vehicle through which Kate released her first solo album and has been the means to fulfill her greatest passion — singing modern jazz.

Kate Ceberano And Her Septet Recorded Live In Concert was pieced together from a performance at the ANZ Pavilion in the Victorian Arts Centre last year.

It includes backstage interview grabs of Kate and the laid-back performance of Kate and her combo, which houses some of Melbourne's most promising musos.

All up, Kate and her Septet put on a smooth show. And without doubt, this lady is one of the country's finest female singers, with a soothing white soul voice that can soar to powerful heights.

Kate Ceberano And Her Septet Recorded Live In Concert is the first in a series of music specials SBS will screen on Wednesday nights. — Lynnette Cassells.
